

Chair Warmers' Convention August 23rd 1931 - As reported by A. A. Herbert (2ZH) W1ES - ARRL treasurer. - Doc Kirk's radio shack (W8ARJ), located at Curtice, Ohio, was the Mecca towards which the C.W.C. pilgrims from several states were bound on Sunday the 23rd 1931, to attend the Annual Warmers' Convention.

What a jolly crowd, their number is not so very large, but what they lack in quantity they make up in QUALITY.

From about 0900 until nearly noon, automobiles kept arriving every fifteen minutes or so and when the convention was called to order by Jim List W8EQ - Doc's two rooms were filled to capacity.

Following precedent, a short business session took place with Walt Colpus W8BRS, the secretary, making proper notes.

President Lisk, then, in well-chosen words welcomed the A.R.R.L. representative, Fieldman Hebert, who addressed the delegation on the League as an organization and discussed international problems facing amateur radio. General discussions took place where everybody joined in and as afternoon progressed it was almost a debating society.

Hebert's Dynatron frequency meter proved of interest and his talk of the importance of frequency stability was to the point. There was not an idle moment and when the big picnic lunch was served in the middle of the afternoon, it was enjoyed by everybody.

As the shadows of dusk began to appear, farewells were in order and as the last automobiles disappeared around the corner, one thought came to mind; "May the wonderful spirit of the C.W.C. ever continue in our ranks." A.A.H (W1ES)
